Research Articles

Research Articles presents original research that is expected to present a major advancement and contribution to the body of knowledge or the particular area. Research Articles follows the format provided in the guide to authors. The content includes an abstract, an introduction, materials and methods, results and discussion and conclusion.

Cover Letter

When you submit your article to a journal, you need to include a cover letter.

Abstract

Abstracts should not more than 200 words and written in English. The abstract should not only indicate the subject and scope of the paper but also summarize the principal results and major conclusion along with at least three (04) keywords that could be useful for information - retrieval purposes. References should be avoided, but if essential, they must be cited in full, without reference to the reference list. Also, non-standard or uncommon abbreviations should be avoided, but if essential they must be defined at their first mention in the abstract itself.

Reference Style

All publications cited in the text should be presented in a list of references following the text of the manuscript. In the text make references using a number in square brackets on the line, and the full reference should be given in a numerical list at the end of the paper.
